

Amy Meyers Jaffe – Speaking Topics

Amy Myers Jaffe untangles the complex web of policies, economic outcomes, climatic consequences, and societal problems that stem from how we harness and use energy. Her unparalleled knowledge, relevance, and presentation style have made her a crowd favorite. For numerous committees and event planners, she is their number one choice to address the global energy shift and its implications for business, politics, and global relations.

- The Energy Future: Transformational Trends in the Oil and Gas Industry
- Sustainability and Risk in the Energy Sector
- Global Climate Policy and Energy Investing: Is the Carbon Bubble Real?
- The Unconventionals' Challenge to OPEC
- US Energy Independence: Possibilities and Global Implications
- Climate Change, Alternative Fuels and Transportation